

JDL Technologies Wins 2017 Information Security Award

Security FastTrack Service Recognized for Innovation in Cloud Security

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., February 14, 2017 (PRNewswire) – JDL Technologies announced today that its flagship commercial service, Security FastTrack, won in two categories at the 2017 Global Excellence Awards hosted by Information Security Products Guide on February 13, 2017, in San Francisco. The new cloud service won in the 'Innovation in Cloud Security' category for its robust, multilayered security and enterprise-grade protections. Security FastTrack also won a Silver Award in the New Products & Services category.

“We’re pleased to be recognized with these 2017 Information Security Awards for our innovations in cloud security, and proud to be in such distinguished company,” said Scott Fluegge, president and general manager of JDL Technologies. “With Security FastTrack we’ve taken cloud security to the next level, while still delivering the convenience and system performance that are so important to end users.”

For more than 20 years, JDL Technologies has brought innovative technologies, compliance services, and information security to the business communities it serves. Security FastTrack helps legal and financial firms, manufacturers, logistics and other businesses achieve reliable security virtually overnight, without capital expenditures or operational disruptions. In addition to securing company data and systems, Security FastTrack enables employees to work normally, with secure access to all the resources they require, from any location at any time on any device.

Last year, HIPAA FastTrack won an Information Security award for ‘Innovation in Compliance’ by bringing similar benefits to the healthcare community.
